Movember if that policy is made the chief issue in the campaign.

The out and out declaration of the Republican senator for the policy of the Democratic president toward Mexico was elicited by an inquiry from Senator Lewis of Illinois. Interrupting La Follette, Senator Lewis said:

"I understand that the senator approves the policy of President Wilson in not entering upon a course of military intervention in Mexico under the circumstances?"

"I do, I do most emphatically," answered La Follette decisively. "I sincerly hope that the standard bearer of the Republican party in this campaign will not feel himself constrained and will not under any circumstances take the position that it is the duty of this government to put the flag of the United States behind the investments of speculators in Mexico or elsowhere."

their placidity when their rights were abridged it was not British policy to be contemptuous.

If Americans were disposed to be meek and patient when Germany offended the neutral world it was for Britons to remember that Americans also were meek and patient when Great Britain restricted neutral rights for her own good.

This is too frank an opinion to be prevalent in Great Britain where a policy must be justified morally, at whatever intellectual inconvenience, as well as demanded by exigency or necessity. But it is a statement which accords with American opinion. We have been indulgent and our ability to condone has been severely tested.

THE TRIBUNE has been of the belief that neutrals n.ust reconcile themselves to inconvenience and even hardship in war time. The United States cannot expect Great Britain to conduct itself with perfect and precise regard for every American right which is touched by the conditions of war.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS. HIS country is in a blue funk over infantile paralysis. A study of the different epidemics of the disease does not justify this public panic The disease was first described with moderate accuracy in 1840. The first recorded epidemic in the United States occurred in Louisiana in 1841. The known outbreaks between 1880 and 1910, according to Rosenau, were: 1880 to 1884, two outbreaks: 1885 to 1889, seven outbreaks; 1890 to 1895, four outbreaks; 1895 to 1899, twenty-three outbreaks; 1900 to 1904, nine outbreaks; 1905 to 1909, twenty-five out-

In the years 1905-1909 there were 8,054 cases, or 322 cases to an outbreak. In that five years, five-sevenths of all the cases in the world were in the United States. Edwards says there were 2,500 cases in New York in 1907 and 8,000 cases

The disease is more or less endemic in the United States. Every large city has few cases each year. In the rural districts of every state each year there are

There have been rather alarming epidemics in the following parts of the United States in the last ten years: In Massachusetts, 1907 to 1912; Vermont, 1914-1915; New York City, Buffalo, Eau Claire, and other points in western Wisconsin, southern Minnesota, and northern Iowa, especially around Mason City; Kansas City and vicinity, a certain district in Texas. Los Angeles and vicinity, and now the great epidemic in New York

These epidemics furnish us a good deal of information on which to base some opinions. The epidemics in Massachusetts were thoroughly studied by the chusetts state and local boards of health, and that in Buffalo by the city Infantile paralysis is difficult to con-rol in a given locality in which it exists as an epidemic. The reason for this is that so many carriers and mild cases unrecognized as sources of danger by the the authorities spread the disease. Whenever an epidemic exists in a locality there is always an increase in the number of reported cases in other localities. Perhaps some of this is due to spreading from the epidemic focus, but most of it is due to the attention concentrated on the disease. It acts wholly unlike such a disease as yellow fever or cholera. For in stance, in the old yellow fever days there would be an outbreak in New Orleans Presently there would be a case in Mobile and another in Memphis. Straightaway these Mobile and Memphis foci would de-spreads much in the secondary foci. The history is that it radiates out from the original focus for a short distance. The recent open air performance of "Hamlet" in the historic castle of of Scotland spent part of his honeyn Kronborg, at Elsinore, where Shakespeare laid the scene of the action of this best known of all his plays-a performance in which all the best actors of the Royal theater of Copenhagen took part, and which was attended by the king, the queen of Denmark, and numbers of English, French, and American visitors serves to recall the fact that just a hundred years ago a number of amateurs gave a representation of "Hamlet" there.

The recent performance, like that of a undred years ago, has served to revive the discussion as to whether Shakespeare ever visited Denmark, or if his wonderful description of the castle was gained from

What cannot be denied is that the castle still remains just as Shakespeare portrayed it, at the entrance of the Baltic, where the ghost of Hamlet's father, acording to the bard, walked "to the dreadful summit of the cliff that beetles o'er its base into the sea." But the words of the play, as written, prove incontestably that Shakespeare referred to life size pictures hanging on the wall. In a description, still in existence, by an English traveler who visited Kronborg in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, he describes "a great chamber" at Kronborg, and portrays it as " hanged with tapestries of fresh colored silke, without gold, wherein all the Danish kings are exprest in antique habits, according to their several times, with their armes and inscriptions, containing all their conquests and victories." They both linked Jefferson Davis and Abraham Lincoln together as very great patriotic men, equally so. Mr. Kicheloe said that Kentucky " fu nished to the union its president, that great and liberty loving idol, Abraham Lincoln, and to the southern confederace statesman, Jefferson Davis." Mr. Aswell

REFERENDUM ON PROHIBITION Louisville, Ky., July 20 .- [Editor of Th Tribune.]-Great stress is being placed by anti-saloon orators in certain sect upon the importance of letting "the people" vote upon prohibition. Yet in Missouri the Rev. W. C. Shupp, state super intendent of the Anti-Saloon league, is trying to force prohibition by the legisla-tive route, thus avoiding submission of the issue to the people under the state's referendum law.

In Alabama, the same desire to smile vote of those same people who arenos loudly championed, was shown by Anti-Saloon league last year, when the prohibition law was made more drastit. But in Alabama, prohibition leaders were more outspoken as to their reasons. Aske why the question was not submitted is the people, B. W. Eichelberger, state so perintendent of the Anti-Saloen league, gave desire to avoid delay as the first reason and added: "The second was that it would have brought into the state a 'slush' ful enormous size to corrupt the voters." Yet, in the face of this distrust of the people in the different states, the Asti-Saloon league now urges such the parties the nation-wide amendment to the people the nation wide amendment to the people the nation will be not be not become a property to the people the nation will be not be not become of the states. Its orators are even t to make congressmen believe they have no duty but to submit the question to the states; that the framers of the constitu-tion, though they required a two-thirds vote by congress, intended that the duty of that body should be nothing more th clerical or mechanical, no matter what its views upon the amendment proposed.

Spence & Co.'s chestnut gelding High Gear, by Ivan the Terrible-Miss Mooney, a 2 to 1 second choice, and the Williams stable pair, James and January, long outsiders. The handicapper was asking Berlin to give the Williams coits fifteen pounds each, and High Gear twelve by the scale.

Three on Even Terms.

Whether Berlin would have done so on a less sticky track is a question, and a delay at the post also did not help the well weighted favorite. James started sut to cut out the pace, with Berlin his closest attendant. After turning out of the back stretch High Gear moved up, and at one time the trio were on practically even terms. Straightening out for home, however, James dropped back, leaving High Gear to fight it out with Berlin.

The latter led by two lengths midway.

There are many published assertions about widespread betting at Hawthorne, but the testimony of most of the speciators at the track is that they find it difficult to wage when they want to do so. There are undoubedly cliques who do a great deal of betting among themselves, but it can hardly be charged that there is widespread betting.

ALD. HORNE'S HOME SCENE.

The somewhat intimate details of an apartment house feud between women. apparently started by vagrant hair and strong breeze, was told yesterday to a jury in Judge Fry's court. Mrs. John G. Horne, wife of the alderman from the Thirteenth ward, accuses Mrs. Dora Miller, her neighbor, of disorderly conduct. The case will go to the jury this morning. On two consecutive days, Mrs. Miller testified, she quarreled with Mrs. Horne, On the first day she visited Mrs. Horne's apartment. On the second day she remained in her own doorway had cause Mrs. Horne, she said, stood on her own rear porch; and by her side was a great white with black spots dog whom, Mrs. Horne called Sweetheart.

"I live at 100 South Hamlin avenue," Mrs. Miller testified. "In May Mrs. Horne moved into the first floor aparts ment next door, at No. 102.

"Mrs. Horne conducted in her home hair manufacturing establishment. Sha employed two girls. The hair she hung out to dry on a rope on her rear porch. Also for two days she had a man cleaning and furnishing an old stove on her rch and the ashes blew around.

Hair Blows Around.

"The hair hanging on the rope was wet, and clung to the rope. But the hair hanging in her apartment was dry, and blew out of windows and went every-where. When some of it blew into our soup I went to see Mrs. Horne. That was on May 16.

"I knocked at her door. When she opened it I began talking about the hair. She slammed the door into my face and returned to my own flat. "On the next day I was & may apartment when I heard Mrs. Horne talking loudly to my maid, who was outside. My maid came in, horrified at what Mrs. Horne had said. I hadn't heard Mrs. Horne's language. Now I stepped to the loor and opened it.

"Mrs. Horne stood on her porch, big as life. Her dog was beside her. She be-gan calling me wicked names. 'I'm the wife of an alderman,' she said, 'and I'll Didn't Hurl Flower Pot, "Was that after you had thrown down the flower pot on her porch? " asked Mrs. Horne's attorney, Justin F. McCarthy. "I wasn't on her porch," Mrs. Miller denied, "and I threw down no flower pots." A pretty girl who were good clothes and wore them well ascended the stand.

that she looked younger. " Do you know Mrs. Miller's reputation the increase in salary followed. One day for peace and quiet?" "Yes; it is a good reputation."

> Mrs. Horne's Version. Mrs. Horne's testimony made Mrs. Miler out a ferocious person. She came to my porch on Friday, May 17, and hammered on the door," said Mrs. Horne. "When I opened the door, she picked up a flower pot, dashed it to the ground, and said: 'Come out here and

FIELD ESTATE PAYS $500,000 FOR LOOP SITE

Trustees Buy Southwest Corner of Jackson and State from Mrs. L. Bloom.

A $500,000 sale of the fee in a loop corner was the feature of the realty market rday. By it the Marshall Filed esate adds to its holdings the southwest corner of State street and Jackson boulepard, 38x100 feet. The site is occupied in part by the eight story building of Mau-L. Since it was originally sold by the government it has changed hands only four times. On Feb. 6, 1869, it was sold for 187,400; July 20, 1870, it brought $80,000; on Feb. 26, 1881, Mr. Bloom bought it for 187,500. He then conveyed it to his wife on Feb. 26, 1851, Mr. Bloom bought it for $57,500. He then conveyed it to his wife as a gift.

The sale by Mrs. Bloom came as a surprise in real estate circles. It was generally believed Mrs. Bloom could not be prevailed upon to dispose of the property because she intended it should pass to her daughters, Mrs. Hulda Morris, widow of Herbert Morris; Mrs. Joseph Mayer, wife of a member of Mayer Brothers, wholesale clothiers; and Mrs. L. E. Block, wife of a vice president of the Inland Steel company.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

"The 1915 statistics show a total consumption of liquor practically equal to that of any previous year." -Prohibition Year Book, 1916 (Page 13).

The Testimony of Seattle

The Promise—

Prohibition advocates arbitrarily maintained that general total abstinence from stimulating beverages would follow the adoption of a law which would prohibit the manufacture and sale of beer and other liquors within the State of Washington.

The Actual Facts—

From The Chicago Journal (July 13, 1916). SEATTLE A HARD DRINKER.

Figures Show Increases in Monthly Consumption of Liquor.

Seattle, Washington, July 13.
Six months ago King county, with the state of Washington, went dry, as regards the sale and manufacture of intoxicating beverages. The records of the county auditor's office show that the citizens of King county, rounding out a half year of arid conditions, have accepted the provisions of the state dry law as follows: Permits to ship intoxicating liquor into King county were granted to 38,464.

These permits provided for the purchase of 227,712 quarts of beer, 35,903 quarts of whisky, 1,051 quarts of wine, 891 quarts of alcohol, 626 quarts of brandy, 340 quarts of gin, 77 quarts of vermouth and 78 quarts of rum. Nearly 6,000 druggist permits have been

Beginning January 3, when the first liquor permit was issued, the number of permits have nearly doubled every succeeding month over permits issued the previous month. The only exception to this is April, which for some unexplained reason fell 25 permits short of equaling the number issued in March.

No law is any stronger than the sentiment that supports it. There is no strong public sentiment in favor of Prohibit There is a demand for clean, decent places of public resort in which people can be supplied with pure, wholesome beverages. None other than such places should be licensed.

New York, July 20.-Foreign advices contributed largely to such uncertain tendencies as were shown at irregular intervals by today's market. Announcement of the intention of the British treasury to levy a war tax of 77 per cent on excess profits of the shipping companies under its jurisdiction precipitated a sharp break almost at the outset in mercantile treme decline of 7 points, with 3% for the Weakness of these particular stocks

Small amounts of three months bills are being bought here for New York account. The loss of gold to an unknown destination, reported in the weekly bank return, caused some comment when read in conjunction with the statement of the increased daily cost of the war. Dealers on the stock exchange were relieved to find their fears of an increase in the bank rate groundless and the tone of the market was quite good. Large repurchases occurred in Indian, Australian, and British corporation stocks and the war loan at hardening prices. Shipping and oil shares were also active. American securities were quietly firm.
